30 seconds: blood donation

Wouldn't you like to be able to help your country? your friends, those stricken with polio? or become a participant in the Red Cross work? You no doubt say "impossible" or "What can I do?" but you can help. By giving your blood to the blood mobile, coming February twenty-third and twenty-fourth to Davis Centre. The college takes care of obtaining permission slips from home if you're under 21, so your only job is to remember Davis- Feb. twenty-third- and give your blood as a willing donor.

Have you ever wondered just what you- a young college girl- can possibly do in times of war or times of peace? You naturally realize what the world situation is and it hits home when your best beau leaves for overseas or even when you pick up a morning paper and read the headlines- not too alarming but none the less, very real. Or even at home- the little boy next door comes down with polio- you of course aren't a doctor and you wouldn't have any immediate cure, so just what could you do?

Well, all this seems to boil down to one thing- blood donation. By giving only a small amount of your blood you can help wounded soldiers in wartime, or polio victims in peacetime and in many many other ways your blood would be put to valuble use. There's no pain, no trouble- the only thing you have to do is go to Davis centre, Feb. twenty-third and twenty-fourth and donate your blood. The Red Cross, medical researchers, military men people in large areas of destruction and countless others all will be more than grateful for your contribution.
